D.A.B. studies land use conflict

The Town of Elk Point's seldom-used Development Appeal Board met Monday night with Richard Charbonneau and Vic Tessier of East End Mobile Homes to discuss the development application for an equipment rental shop which had been turned down by the Municipal Planning Commission on October 17th.

Chairman Morris Cooper of the MPC said that the equipment rental business does not comply with the C2-Highway Commercial zoning on the lot purchased by East End from the Town of Elk Point. C2 zoning permits only uses which serve the travelling public, such as service stations, motels, and restaurants, according to Land Use Bylaw No. 312, Cooper noted.

The MPC's first concern had been with the type of building to be erected on the site, but a motion to deny the development permit for this reason was defeated at the October 17th meeting. A second motion to deny the permit because of the proposed use was then pass-

Recreation land goes to plebiscite

Elk Point's long-fought battle over the purchase of the Clinic Holdings property containing the present golf course will be decided by the people of Elk Point in a plebiscite vote next Wednesday, November 14th. Voting will take place at the Old Courthouse between 10:00 a.m. and 6:00 p.m. on that date.

The 156.99 acre parcel referred to in the plebiscite is located one half mile from the existing town boundaries, with easy access by the newly completed 54th Street continuation to Secondary Highway 646.

Price of the parcel is $150,000, which Mayor Ed Buck noted in an interview Monday, can be financed without any increase in taxes. Half of this amount will be taken from recreational reserve funds, which have been accumulating for a number of years, and which can be used only for recreational land purchases.

The balance will come from the new MCR grant program which is coming in 1985, and which will give Elk Point $15 per capita, or approximately $15,000 per year, each year until 1990 for a total of $75,000-plus. Any community organization or individual who wishes to contribute to the funding for the project would also be more than welcome to do so, the Mayor added. The MCR grant is the matching type, with the $75,000 from the reserves equalling the total available. This would leave $14,000 in the recreational reserves fund for later recreational development in Elk Point, he commented.

Money for development and upkeep is available through the Canada Works program, which is based on $1320 per month per worker, plus $125 per worker per week for material, up to a possible total nearing one half million dollars. The Golf and Country Club has offered to pay $3,000 per year for use of the golf course, plus paying for any development and upkeep in that area.

Community organizations might also contribute to development and upkeep, and there are several other government programs available for this as well, the Mayor noted.

If the plebiscite gives the town the green light on the land purchase, the town would gain an appropriate area for large community functions and sports days, as well as an important source of recreational facilities for all ages, Mayor Buck commented. "It is important that we have such facilities so money can be spent in our community", he added, noting as an example that a 64-team slowpitch tournament would probably bring in forty outside teams who would spend a considerable amount of money in Elk Point during their stay.

Although some development could take place as soon as early spring, 1985, Buck said that the first step in the development of the site would be to call in a professional consultant to develop a master plan for maximum utilization of the space over a number of years.

If the plebiscite is defeated, Buck fears for the future of summer recreation in Elk Point. Cost of land for ball diamonds in the north subdivision would be $6,800, plus $3,800 per acre in offsite costs, or $10,000 per acre in the industrial park, both of which are owned by Alberta Housing Corporation. Both of those locations are also sloping in topography, and would necessitate "astronomically costly" leveling.

Elk Point's future, Mayor Buck said that this is "something we just can't afford", with an initial price tag of over $1 million and subsequent upkeep, of which most would have to come from tax dollars. "It would be nice, though, somewhere down the road", he commented.

Buck feels confident that the citizens of Elk Point, who have traditionally given whole-hearted support to community recreation projects such as the curling rink and arena, both of which were built with "sweat equity", will approve the purchase. He noted that those who oppose the project have "no alternate plan" that would "do the same job within 15 or 20 years".

Buck is curious why the people of Elk Point, who accepted the Town's proposal to borrow $80,000, to be repaid with tax dollars, for the planned $250,000 public library, would oppose the recreation land purchase, which is not going to cost them a single tax dollar.

In closing, the Mayor commented that he hopes the ratepayers will "get out and support the growth and development of our town and not let surrounding communities get ahead of us".

Councillor Bruce Kleeberger, who has been highly involved in the project over the past months, said that he is in favor of the purchase because of the definite need established by the extensive survey by the Recreational Land Feasibility Study Committee for developed recreational land, and especially ball diamonds. The subsequent study of suitable land for ball diamonds within town limits showed that it would be "prohibitively expensive" to develop these sites, he added, and "the Clinic Holdings land is the most logical alternative."

ed, Cooper told the hearing.

The Development Appeal Board, which consists of Councillors Kleeberger, Kryvenchuk and Lesyk, was not greatly concerned with the type of building, which East End spokesman Richard Charbonneau described as a totally wood structure to be bolted to cement pilings and covered with metal siding, to which a 40 ft. by 40 ft. shop would be added in the near future. Carbonneau stated that he would, if necessary, make a commitment to construct the addition within the next twelve months.

The DAB went into a closed meeting at that time to discuss the appeal, and had not released their decision by press time Tuesday.

This is NATIONAL CRIME PREVENTION WEEK and as our special project, I would like to introduce a Crime Prevention Program that was initiated in the Elk Point District. PATCH WATCH is a Crime Prevention Program that was designed exclusively for the Petroleum Industry, the Elk Point Oilman's Association in conjunction with the R.C.M. Police put several existing programs together and came up with this new and innovative idea. The main thrust of the program is to "MARK FOR IDENTIFICATION" all equipment and machinery and then advertise through signs or word of mouth that this has been done. Anyone that has ideas of stealing anything will realize that the items can be traced and if he's caught with it, he would be charged with Possession of Stolen Property.

The "MARKING FOR IDENTIFICATION" is achieved through a National Program known as OPERATION PROVIDENT. When a company applies to the Police for the "O.P." number, they are assigned a series of letters and numbers that will be unique to them. A sample number would be OP2-000259. If this number were checked anywhere in Canada or the U.S.A., it would be traced back through our Police Computer to the owner. Identifiable stolen property is worth nothing on the Black Market.

All of the participating Oil Companies have "Vehicle Check" cards. The employees look for and record the particulars on suspicious vehicles and turn this information over to the Police. Should an offence occur in the area, every "Vehicle Check" card submitted will be followed-up. This again, has a tendency to score off potential trouble makers.

We have already had success in this area using the Operation Provident Number. We recovered an angle grinder that was the property of Suncor Limited of Fort McMurray.

I congratulate the members of the Elk Point Oilman's Association for their enthusiasm and participation in this unique Crime Prevention Program.

UNDER THE "B" — Joanne Hutton calls out the numbers and Activity Aide Carolyn Onusko helps with finding the numbers as the long-term residents of Elk Point Municipal Hospital enjoy several games of bingo at Adventure Hour last Friday.

Standard deductions for charitable donations no longer available

Most of Canada's 15 million taxpayers will feel the effect of a change in the Income Tax Act when they file their 1984 return. The $100 standard deduction for charitable donations and medical expenses will no longer be available.

Prior to 1984 taxpayers could claim the $100 standard deduction without having to attach supporting receipts. This deduction could be claimed in lieu of medical expenses plus charitable donations. Last year, 11,217,566 taxpayers claimed the $100 standard deduction on their income tax return and about 13 million claimed it for the 1982 taxation year.

Taxpayers are advised to keep all records since receipts for medical expenses and for charitable donations will be required to support claims for the 1984 tax year.

The people's choice

Next Wednesday, Elk Point ratepayers will go to the polls to determine the future course of summer recreation in Elk Point.

The purchase of the tract of recreational land would ensure that the residents of Elk Point and their offspring would have substantial recreational facilities for baseball, slowpitch, hiking, picnicing, and other outdoor pursuits, including golf, in near proximity to the town. Why should Elk Point residents have to drive twenty miles to have a picnic or take a walk in the woods or to take part in a ball tournament? Why, when this property, so scenic and so near at hand, is available?

If the plebiscite on Bylaw No. 402/84 is defeated, it will mean doing just that, and possibly also driving to St. Paul or Derwent to play golf.

Elk Point is a growing community, with growing needs for all types of facilities, recreational among them. Will the ratepayers deny their children, their grandchildren, their fellow citizens and themselves the privilege of having an easily available recreational area?

The choice is yours, Elk Point. Get out and vote next Wednesday, or forever hold your peace on the subject.

What about the rest?

ALberta Transportation Minister Marvin Moore introduced a bill last week which will undoubtedly save the lives of untold numbers of Alberta children...provided they are born AFTER December 31st, 1984.

What, Mr. Moore, about the babies born ON or before December 31st of this year? Do they not deserve the government's protection from death and injury on an equal basis with their slightly younger counterparts?

Statistics show that "traffic collisions are the number one killer of children beyond their first year of life," Mr. Moore has noted. Therefore, should not legislation be put in place to prevent all children from being thrown from vehicles in the case of a collision, and from being bounced off the inside of the vehicle even in the case of a sudden stop?

The bill, as far as it goes, is excellent. However, it does not go far enough to protect the majority of Alberta's children.

meanwhile, back at the ranch

by VICKI BROOKER

After three Tuesdays clogged with snow and drifting snow, in a gloomy procession of grey days, a Tuesday like today lifts my spirits and gives me renewed faith in Mother Nature.

To see frost-flocked trees silhouetted against a cloudless, pink-tinged morning sky made crawling out of my warm bed at least partly worthwhile. To see the sunrise turn the trees to diamond-studded beauty completed the job of assuring me that winter, although early in arrival, is not all bad.

Last week, I spent a snowbound November 1st morning with an unplugged truck and -25 Centigrade temperatures, looking through the diaries kept by my father for over fifty years after his arrival in Canada, in which he painstakingly recorded the weather conditions for every single day.

Out of 52 years, winter arrived before Halloween 24 times. The earliest arrival of snow recorded was on September 16, 1925, a day Father noted was "only fit for holding down the stove", which I take to mean warming one's rear portions over the oven door, as I have seen him do on many cool mornings.

In 1951, we had an even foot of snow on October 21st, as we did again on that date in 1957, with 5 below zero Fahrenheit temperatures to boot. On October 25th, 1939, the mercury dipped to 14 below Fahrenheit.

I especially remember an October blizzard in 1956, when roads were very bad and my Mother had a heart attack after Father slid into a ditch on the way to town. As I recall, that was a very snowy Halloween, and a sad one, with Mother in the hospital. However, my Father did take me out Halloweening—my first and last time, because Mother always saw trick-and-treating as a form of "begging" which was not to be indulged in by "decent people".

After two hours of pursuing the musty volumes, I discovered that my truck had warmed up enough to start, so I could head to town for a new radiator hose for the other pickup, and some more antifreeze.

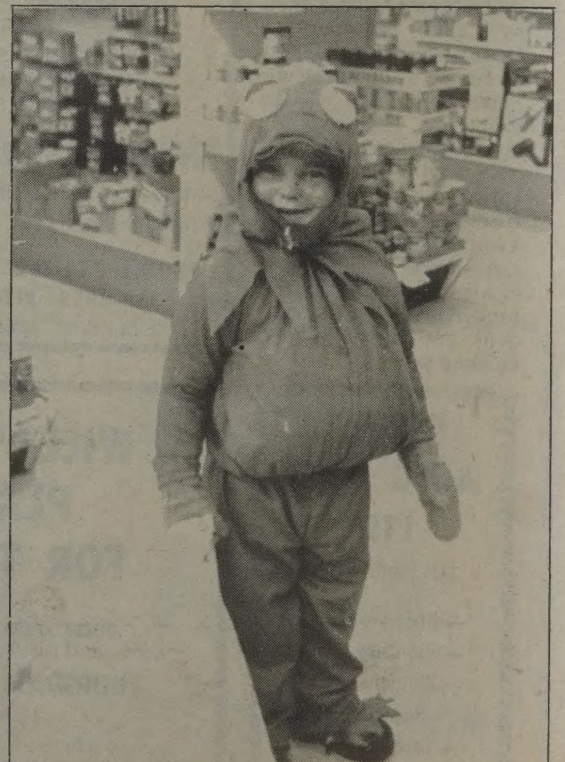

As I went, however, I was warmed by the realization that this was NOT, by any means, the earliest winter on record, but only a fairly early onslaught after a few years of good luck and long autumns.

from the legislature

by JOHN DROBOT
M.L.A. for St. Paul Constituency

The Child Transportation Safety Act was introduced in the legislature by the Minister of Transportation, the Hon. Marvin Moore.

The legislation requires that no person driving on a highway will operate a motor vehicle registered under the Motor Vehicle Administration Act with a child as a passenger unless the child is properly secured in a child car safety seat. The legislation will apply to all children born after December 31, 1984, until they reach five years of age. Certain exemptions will be provided in the legislation and regulations.

This Act will go a long way to removing the statistical facts that traffic collisions are the number one killer of children beyond their first year of life. It should also be pointed out that there are presently well over 50 agencies in Alberta who offer safety seats on a rental basis. It is important that parents who buy or rent a child car safety seat ensure that the seats bear the mark of "Transport Canada" certifying that they meet all applicable Canadian Motor Vehicle safety standards. Mr. Moore also stated that it will be his intention to seek comments on the legislation from various interest groups in the Province, and that after such consultation, the Regulations will be established. Upon proclamation, Alberta will join eight other provinces in Canada that now have legislation protection for child highway travellers.

The Government of Alberta has initiated many programs to provide employment and training for our residents. One very important program is the Youth Employment and Training Program to encourage you to hire young people. Every private sector employer, non-profit organization, school and hospital and municipal boards are encouraged to participate. Application forms and information may be obtained from the Manpower office in St. Paul.

Congratulations to little Shelly Whitford of the Ashmont Elementary School for her participation in the Alberta Farm Safety Rural School Program. With the winter season arriving in such an abrupt manner, children have the opportunity to participate in sports such as skating and hockey much earlier this year. This, combined with the hazardous streets and sidewalks, increase the likelihood of many types of accidents, including injuries to the mouth and face.

Protection against injury of the head and face are required in some sports and recommended in others. Proper use of approved helmets and, faceguards and protectors will prevent needless injury. However, intraoral, or "in-the-mouth" protection is also recommended for players of contact sports. A mouth guard may prevent damage to teeth or soft tissues of the mouth in the event of a blow to the head or face. Consult with your dentist about the use of a custom mouth guard.

However, despite all best attempts to prevent injury, accidents will still occur. If a blow to the face results in an injury of the face or mouth, immediately attempt to determine the extent of the injury. Look for bleeding, pain, and loose, lost, or broken teeth.

Stop any bleeding by applying pressure directly to the area the bleeding appears to be coming from. If the bleeding cannot be stopped quickly in this way; if the bleeding is from inside the mouth or if the injury is severe, immediately report to a hospital emergency area.

Swelling of the face of any suspicion of fracture of the jaws requires immediate attendance at a hospital for possible emergency treatment. Swelling, pain or difficulty with opening or closing the mouth or looseness of several teeth in one area may indicate broken bones. Immobilize the jaws by tying a towel under the chin and over the head while travelling to the emergency facility.

Bleeding within the mouth, loose, or broken or lost teeth can be a serious injury. Transport the patient to a dental clinic or hospital emergency area as soon as possible.

In the event that a permanent tooth is entirely lost, follow these steps: Firstly, check the accident site for the lost tooth. If the tooth is found, do not attempt to clean the tooth. Wiping the tooth could destroy the connective fibers which help anchor the tooth in place. Place the tooth in a cup of water or wrap it in a wet cloth or gauze. The victim should be transported to a dentist or hospital immediately and may be given pain medication such as aspirin if necessary.

Although fall and winter are seasons of greater opportunities for trauma to the face and mouth, caution and proper face protection can reduce injuries. Rapid transportation of injuries to emergency facilities will ensure the most effective treatments available that can speed healing and recovery.

GHASTLY CREW — Of goblins and evil characters, along with their behind-the-scenes assistants and Drama teacher Mr. McCue (right), presented a very scary Haunted House at F.G. Miller High School for their Elementary School friends.

Halloween at the haunted high school

Spooky sights were the order of the day Wednesday, as Drama Club members from Grades 7 and 8 at F.G. Miller High School staged a hair-raising Haunted House for the Elementary School students.

Class by class, they ventured across the street, to enter the darkened gymnasium and be led up the stairs onto the stage...into what?

Veiled arms reached out to grab unsuspecting youngsters, and scary noises came from every corner as the students filled into the dark, toward a glowing candle. A wild haired woman with flashing eyes and upraised knife was behind the candle, talking about lunch...and it wasn't peanut butter sandwiches, either!

Around a turn into the dark...and we came upon two ghouls hunched over a chess board, in a game lasting a thousand years, according to the guild...and even further into the murky depths...is that a coffin? It's opening! It's the Count, with fangy leer, waking up from his nap...and looking for a snack! Time to skitter through the cobwebs and rustling curtains and make our way out of this terrifying place!

Congratulations to the Drama students for making Halloween a little more exciting for the youngsters, and for their fine job of acting. That haunted house was at least as scary as any of its midway-type counterparts!

Elks double Kings, 6-3

Elk Point Elks used their home ice advantage Sunday night to win their final game of the Centennial League exhibition series against Goodfish Lake Kings by a 6-3 margin. Veteran Elk Vic Stepa scored unassisted goals at 17:25, 7:22 and 0:13 of the third period for the only hat trick of the game.

The Kings dominated first period play, with David Logan scoring off an assist by David Jackson at the half-way mark and Ed Glewich scoring off assists by Dan Logan and Arnold Jackson with three minutes remaining to pull ahead by a 2 and 0 score.

The first half of the second period saw three penalties go to each team for an assortment of infractions, while the penalty-free second half saw three Elk Point goals. Murray Cochrane scored at the midpoint of the period off an assist by Fred Cross, and again with 1:25 left on the clock, off an assist by Jon Schoter. Schoter himself scored with just over seven minutes left on the clock, off an assist by Fred Cross.

Along with the three Stepa goals for Elk Point, came the final Kings goal by Melvin Jackson, assisted by Arnold Jackson and Ed Glewich, to bring the final score to 6-3 for the Elks.

The crowd was once again small for this game, with only a handful of people on hand to observe some very fine hockey action.

The Centennial League's "B" Division league schedule starts Thursday, with Goodfish Lake Kings visiting the Kehewin Voyageurs. The Elks journey to Kikino to meet the Sabres Friday evening, and will be at home to Kehewin on Sunday night, November 11 at 7:30 p.m. Come out for an entertaining evening and support your local hockey stars.

$55 million winter works program

EDMONTON — Alberta Transportation Minister Marvin Moore announced the establishment of a new $55 million Winter Works Program designed to create greater employment opportunities for Albertans through projects relating to highway right-of-way brush clearing, road construction, gravel crushing, hauling and stockpiling. This Alberta Transportation program will provide work this winter for more than 5,600 people, comprising some 3,200 truck operators, 1,000 heavy equipment operators and 1,400 other workers.

The difficult construction weather in the northern half of the province since September 1st has resulted in a significant number of construction projects not being completed this year. Funds which are available because of these uncompleted projects will be utilized for this Winter Works Program.

In making the announcement, Mr. Moore added that "work relating to the program's projects such as highway right-of-way clearing, construction, gravel crushing, hauling and stockpiling will help the department in readying for the 1985 construction season."

Details of the Winter Works Program include the clearing of right-of-way on highway projects and along local Improvement District roads and intersections. Mr. Moore said: "Several thousand acres will have to be cleared in many locations. Clearing of brush from rights-of-way and intersections will facilitate planned future construction as well as enhancing motorists' safety while travelling on district roads."

Winter construction will be undertaken in areas where summer construction would be uneconomical due to difficult terrain conditions. Approximately forty kilometres of road will be constructed in such areas.

There will be a large amount of crushing and stockpiling of gravel carried out this winter. Gravel inventories will be developed in areas that are not normally accessible during the summer period, and gravel haul at this time will also minimize road damage. "Some six million cubic metres of gravel is anticipated to be crushed and stockpiled, resulting in employment of a work force operating 35 crushers, 3,200 gravel trucks and supporting heavy construction equipment," noted Mr. Moore.

Truckers seeking employment under the Transportation Winter Works Program are requested to register at any of the following district transportation offices: Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Hanna, Calgary, Stettler, Red Deer, Edmonton, Edson, Athabasca, Vermilion, Lac La Biche, High Prairie, Grande Prairie, Peace River and High Level.

The owner must have proof of ownership of the truck prior to November 1, 1984. A quota will be established for maximum earnings of $7,500 for those working south of the 17th Baseline and $10,000 for those working north of this line.

Owners of equipment other than trucks that might be utilized in road construction, gravel stockpiling or brush clearing should register with the local District Engineer's office, with first priority being given to local equipment owners who have not worked for the Department of Transportation since April 1, 1984.

Concluded Mr. Moore: "This $55 Million Winter Works Program will bring about a positive impact on Alberta's construction labour force, benefiting local economies while upgrading the transportation system in this province."

Heinsburg School events

As the weather got cooler outdoors, the pace of indoor activities picked up around Heinsburg School. This last month certainly had a variety of happenings, and next month promises to be similarly busy.

For this year's Initiation in Heinsburg School, a few students were wearing costumes such as Garfield, Wilma Flinstoen, Mary Poppins, Pinocchio and Bo Derek. They had a slave auction in the gym in the morning and rewarded the initiates with a sock hop the last two periods of the day.

The graduating class of 1985 put on a mixed volleyball tournament on October 5. Having a mixed team meant at least two girls on the court. The proceeds of both the tournament and a food booth are for the grade twelve's trip around Alberta. They hope to have enough money by Easter to go on their trip.

A Senior Volleyball Tournament was held in St. Paul. Heinsburg's girls lost on total points and didn't go to the semi-finals. The Senior Boys went to the finals and lost two games. However, they had beaten the same team two games straight in pool play.

On October 17, the Heinsburg School and all the schools in St. Paul County, with the exception of St. Paul town schools were closed. Icy roads, prevailing winds and drifting snow made it extremely dangerous for anyone to drive. Radios announced that schools were closed. If you are not sure of school closures, listen to Radio LW or CFCW.

In the Junior Volleyball Tournament on October 20, neither boys nor girls teams for Heinsburg won, but they gave good opposition. The winners were Racette boys and Glen Avon girls. On Thursday, October 25, Heinsburg boys battled back with four games won. The girls did not do as well, winning two, losing two games. Heinsburg is definitely improving.

The day the electricity went off was Tuesday, October 23. Luckily school was dismissed at 2:00 p.m. because of a teachers' staff meeting. That afternoon the Onion Lake volleyball teams came to play, but stayed only about 15 minutes then cancelled the games. Lights were back on in a few hours but too late to play the game. The power failure was just in the Heinsburg, Dewberry area.

October 27 was a memorable day and will be for years to come. Wesley Neumeier, a former Heinsburg teacher was married on that date. Congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Neumeier.

At the Heinsburg School, Halloween sock hop, two people, one male and one female were awarded prizes for the best costume. The only problem was that it cost 25c to get into the dance, but the money was for a good cause, the Student's Council. The Juniors and Seniors enjoyed the dance.

There are many things happening at Heinsburg School in the month of November. The Senior Volleyball Tournament is scheduled for November 3rd and 4th. The teams coming are as follows: Elk Point girls, Mallaig boys and girls, Frog Lake boys and girls, Saddle Lake boys and girls, Onion Lake boys and girls.

Friday night there will be a dance with Gord Anderson Record Allstars open to volleyball players only. Games start again Saturday morning preceded by a pancake breakfast.

Grades 9 to 12 will be having a Career Week from November 5 to 9. There will be one speaker a day to talk to these students about future vocations.

The first report cards for this year will be given out on November 9th. There will be an extra long weekend next month for the students. Parent-teacher Conference is on Nov. 15, and the Professional Development meeting for the teachers will be held at St. Paul on November 16th. These are the major planned events for November.

WEIGH DAY — Was Sunday, November 4 for the ten members of the Elk Point 4-H Beef Club and their project animals. Here, Assistant Steer Leader Merv Yushyshyn tags a steer while Brian Anderson stands ready to lend a hand.

Alberta Bound

Eleven Alberta post-secondary institutions will visit the St. Paul Regional High School on Monday, November 19 to make presentations on various educational opportunities available to students.

Students will also be invited from outlying schools at Blue Quills, Ashmont, Mallaig, Elk Point and Saddle Lake. Parents and others interested in attending should contact Rick Gervais at the St. Paul school for details. The sessions begin at 1:00 p.m.

Called 'Alberta Bound', the cooperative project is operating on a trial basis this year in the northeast, central, and Edmonton areas of the province. High school liaison officers from the institutions hope it proves successful in reaching a greater number of students.

Barry McDonald, liaison officer at Lakeland College, is coordinating visits through this area. He says the venture will be of particular benefit to small rural schools which often don't receive visitations.

Cooperative liaison also has the support of school officials because it reduces the number of times classes are disrupted during the year for presentations.

Sessions begin with a brief overview of all institutions, followed by detailed classroom presentations from each representative. The visits will conclude with an opportunity for students to individually discuss programs of interest with a liaison officer.

Participating institutions are Lakeland College, Grant MacEwan Community College, Concordia College, the University of Alberta, King's College, Athabasca University, Camrose Lutheran College, Alberta Vocational Centre Lac La Biche, Keyano College and NAIT.

RAPID PROGRESS — Is being made on the new motel in spite of the cold weather and snowy conditions. Completion of the project, being built by Mughal Homes of Edmonton, is expected in early December.

Facts about UNICEF Christmas cards

The United Nations Children's Fund was organized in 1946 to provide emergency relief to the young victims of World War II. While UNICEF continues to provide relief in times of disaster, its long-range goals are to improve the quality of life for children and their communities in developing countries. In 1965, UNICEF received the Nobel Peace Prize for its work on behalf of children in need.

In 1949, a seven year-old girl in Czechoslovakia made a painting for UNICEF in thanks for the help it gave her and her family in their war-torn village. This painting became the first UNICEF Christmas card. Every year since then, artists from around the world have donated their designs to UNICEF cards.

The cards are distributed and marketed by volunteers. One hundred percent of the profits go towards UNICEF's work in the third world. The purchase of a single box of cards can protect 84 children against tuberculosis, or provide exercise books for 28 school children.

Every day in this world 40,000 children die of starvation or related diseases. Supporting UNICEF helps cut these numbers down. UNICEF cards will be available at the Elk Point Flea Market on November 10, or by phoning Kay Klopstock at 724-2096.

College hosts Miss Rodeo competition

For the second consecutive year, Lakeland College will host part of the Miss Rodeo Canada national competition. The public is most welcome to attend the horsemanship judging which takes place Monday, November 5 at 10:45 a.m. in the riding arena just north of Old Highway 16 at Vermilion Campus.

Contestants are required to ride two mounts, and will be evaluated on their interaction with the horse, position in the saddle, mounting and dismounting, leads, and showmanship. Horses and tack are supplied by the college.

The impromptu speaking portion of the competition takes place at the college in the evening; this event is not open to the public.

Lakeland College will also supply horses for pageant contestants at the Canadian Finals Rodeo in Edmonton. This involvement provides training for Western Horsemanship students, as they transport and care for the horses in the city.

Eleven young women are vying for the title of Miss Rodeo Canada 1985. Contestants have won regional titles in the professional rodeo circuit or in amateur competitions. The title is honorary, with personal expenses paid by the Canadian Professional Rodeo Association. The pageant itself, and Miss Rodeo Canada's reign, are supported by private sponsors and volunteer organizers.

Child safety act

Honourable Marvin Moore, Alberta Minister of Transportation, today introduced Bill 83, the Child Transportation Safety Act.

The legislation requires that no person driving on a highway will operate a motor vehicle registered under the Motor Vehicle Administration Act with a child as a passenger unless the child is occupying and is properly secured in the required child car safety seat. The legislation will apply to all children born after December 31, 1984 until they reach 5 years of age or exceed 18 kilograms in weight. Certain exemptions will be provided for in the Legislation and Regulations.

Mr. Moore stated, "by introducing this act we feel we will be going a long way to removing the statistical fact that traffic collisions are the number one killer of children beyond their first year of life."

The Transportation Minister also pointed out that there are presently well over 50 agencies in the Province of Alberta who offer child safety seats on a rental basis. "It is important that parents who buy or rent a child car safety seat ensure that they bear the mark of Transport Canada certifying that they meet all applicable Canadian Motor Vehicle Safety Standards."

Mr. Moore also stated that it will be his intention to seek comments on the legislation from the various interest groups in the province and that after such consultation, the regulations will be established.

Upon proclamation, Alberta will join the other eight provinces in Canada who now have legislated protection for child highway travellers.

Job placement new service for students

Creation of a Job Placement office at Lakeland College has been the result of record size graduating classes in recent years. While future expansion is anticipated, the office is now staffed part-time by Barry McDonald, who also continues in a high school liaison role.

The Job Placement office will perform three major functions: provide lists of employers in a particular field; make lists of qualified and interested students available to employers; and post job opportunities. The main goal of the office is to centralize and coordinate placement efforts previously carried out by various academic departments.

"There will still be industry contacts by faculty," Barry emphasizes. Faculty, he says, are prime resources in pairing students with prospective employers; however, the lack of a coordinating body has meant that detailed records of students placed, salary levels and other pertinent data were not maintained across all departments.

Fact-finding about the employment status of 1984 graduates was the first objective of the new office. An initial survey was conducted at graduation, with a follow-up planned for early in 1985.

Information gathered will also be valuable to the college in providing a picture of job trends and industry needs.

As well, Job Placement will work with the Counselling Department to develop an Employer Profile Centre as an addition to the present Career Centre.

"Comments from industry indicate that, generally speaking, student job-seekers aren't adequately prepared," notes Barry. The Employer Profile Centre will contain information enabling students to research companies of interest to them.

One as-yet-unexplored market of potential employers may be Lakeland's own alumni.

"Because many of our alumni have proven themselves successful in business, I'm sure they might consider some of our graduates as potential employees," Barry explains.

Already, the Job Placement office co-operates with the Canada Employment Centre and the Farm Labour Pool to share job placement information.

While the service is new to Lakeland, Barry's research indicates that the college is not trailing other Alberta institutions in this regard. Although some colleges and universities have full-time placement personnel, others have none at all, or depend on Canada Manpower to provide the service. Lakeland now belongs to a national association of placement officers; the first meeting of officers on a provincial basis was held at Olds in late September.

Barry doesn't want to create false expectations that a Job Placement service will provide 100% employment.

"Offices at other Alberta institutions have been placing 15 - 20% of graduates," he says. "But there is a lot of job potential out there. Already, in this office, there's been a huge demand from agriculture, both primary producers and the service industries." Banks, in particular, are interested in training agri-business grads for management positions.

While initial efforts will be local, the office plans eventual national promotion of Lakeland College students. Last June's survey shows that "Our students go everywhere," says Barry.

A Job Placement Advisory Committee of students, faculty and administration will be in place soon.

GETTING INTO THE SPIRIT — Of the occasion for Halloween were the employees of both Elk Point banks. Here the staff of the Toronto Dominion Bank display their alter-egos in a variety of zany costumes.

History of a poppy

Why was the poppy - the flower of the forgetfulness - chosen as the symbol of remembrance for Canada's war dead?

The poppy, an international symbol for those who died in war, also had international origins.

A writer first made the connection between the poppy and battlefield deaths during the Napoleonic wars of the early 19th century, remarking that fields that were barren before battle exploded with the blood-red flowers after the fighting ended.

Prior to the First World War few poppies grew in Flanders. During the tremendous bombardments of that war the chalk soils became rich in lime from rubble, allowing 'popover' rhoeas to thrive. When the war ended the lime was quickly absorbed, and the poppy began to disappear again.

Lt-Col. John McCrae, the Canadian doctor who wrote the poem IN Flanders Field, made the same connection 100 years later, and the scarlet poppy quickly became the symbol for soldiers who died in battle.

Three years later an American, Moina Michael, was working in a New York City YMCA canteen when she started wearing a poppy in memory of the millions who died on the battlefield. During a 1920 visit to the United States, a French woman, Madame Guerin, learned of the custom. On her return to France she decided to use handmade poppies to raise money for destitute children in war-torn areas of the country. In November 1921, the first poppies were distributed in Canada.

However, thanks to the millions of Canadians who wear flowers each November, the little red plant has never died. And neither have Canadians' memories for 114,000 of their countrymen who died in battle.

Highschool highlights

by SAMANTHA GRAY

Hello again! It's been another busy week at F.G. Miller and I'd like to start off by thanking everyone who helped make our chicken supper a big success. Things were pretty quiet on the athletic side of things but the graduating class made some rather important choices. I mentioned before that purple was to be our main colours but we have now confirmed that blue and light blue and white. Another decision that has been made is False Creek will most likely be our band. Decision on guest speaker has not as yet been confirmed! Last but not least, the Grads are hosting a dance on Friday, this being by invitation only. Halloween day turned out to be very successful for the Drama class. By the looks on the faces of the elementary kids, the haunted house was very rewarding! Thanks to Mr. McCue and the very energetic students of his class.
